Santo, TX – SpeedDirect Upgrades Shark Bite & Vector Series To Double Adjustable Shocks

SpeedDirect has upgraded all their Shark Bite™ (C2-C3 Corvette) and Vector Series™ (65-70 Mustang) suspension & handling kits to double adjustable shocks. This provides a product with superior performance across all their kits, with a price point below competitor's double adjustable kits.

Single vs. Double Adjustable Shocks:

Single adjustable shocks adjust both compression and extension with a single setting at the same time. In most performance cases it is beneficial to be able to adjust compression separately from extension to better suit the situations your car will encounter.

Diverse applications such as street driving, drag racing and autocrossing all require significantly different shock settings. A proper race shock set up can not be achieved with a single adjustable shock. A double adjustable shock is required.

Additionally, personal ride and performance preference can play a large role in the suspension tuning equation because shocks play a role not only in ride comfort but in everything from initial body roll during cornering to steering responsiveness and tire grip balance.

Advantages to Double Adjustable Shocks

- More customizable settings
- Ability to fine tune to ride/performance preferences
- Adaptable to specific circumstances
- Tire grip balance adjustments
